Medication errors now cause roughly one death each day, and name confusion causes about one-fourth of all medication errors, says Jerry Phillips, the head of the FDA’s labeling division.